SOC – TRANSPORTATION

Transportation is movement of people and things from one place to another.

Types of Transportation

There are 3 types of transportation: land, air, and water transportation.

- Land Transportation: land transportation is the movement of people, animals or things from one place to another over land. Some of the means through which people transport over land are: animals, bicycles, motorcycles, cars, buses, etc.
- Water Transportation: this is the movement of people, animals and things from one place to another over water bodies. Oceans, seas, rivers, lakes, and lagoons are water bodies. Canoes, big vessels, ships and ferries are the means used in water transportation.
- Air Transportation: this is the movement of people, animals and things from one place to another through air or the atmosphere. Aeroplane and helicopters are used to transport people through the air.