FINE ART SKILL

Art in this context implies drawing painting and modelling. Thus, we can rephrase this art skill as drawing, painting and sculpting skills. It implies the collection of techniques employed to making good and beautiful art works.

For one to develop this skill, he/she ought to be abreast of the required tools and materials and their usage. The person ought to buy them and keep using them. A person who is trying to develop this skill is becoming an artist.

A studio is the special workshop for developing this skill. A drawing board stationed properly with a special seat called donkey is very important. A shelf is needed to store the different tools and materials such as brushes, papers, canvas, etc. Special books could also be stored in the shelf for easy retrieval of information concerning the skill. An apron would be good dress for doing this skill.
