CLASS ROOM

Classroom is a room wherein teaching can be carried out. It can also imply a learning space.

A typical classroom contains a board (white- or black-board) for writing, and desks for students to sit and learn with. Other fixtures that may be contained in a classroom are television, projectors, interactive whiteboard, computers, etc.

Instructional materials such as charts, maps, and pictures are very essential to the functionality of a classroom. They serve to aid the teaching operations.

A shelf is important as it could be used to store both tools and materials and literatures concerning teaching.

To develop the teaching skill, one ought to set-up a simple classroom. A student could come from time to time as a material to be worked on. Instructional materials could be made to serve the teaching purpose.
