THE CASE OF SCHOOL TIMETABLE

A school is made of several classes of students and several subjects, which are taught by teachers. Thus, there is a need for a time table. A time table is a table that matches subjects to classes based on time periods.

The school's time table should be drawn up with the starting and closing times of the school put into consideration. Also, the number of subjects taught by each teacher ought to be considered too. The times table helps the school to be organized daily in its learning/teaching function.

Teachers ought to know their time periods and prepare well in advance for the classes they are to handle.

Every class ought to also know the teacher they have per time period and do well to call him/her for their lessons.
